As the last Quirken (a type of alien on the planet-V-CX3000), X-2000 is frantically attempting to escape from intruding invaders.

These galactic creatures from another planet aim to annihilate all lifeforms in the cosmos.

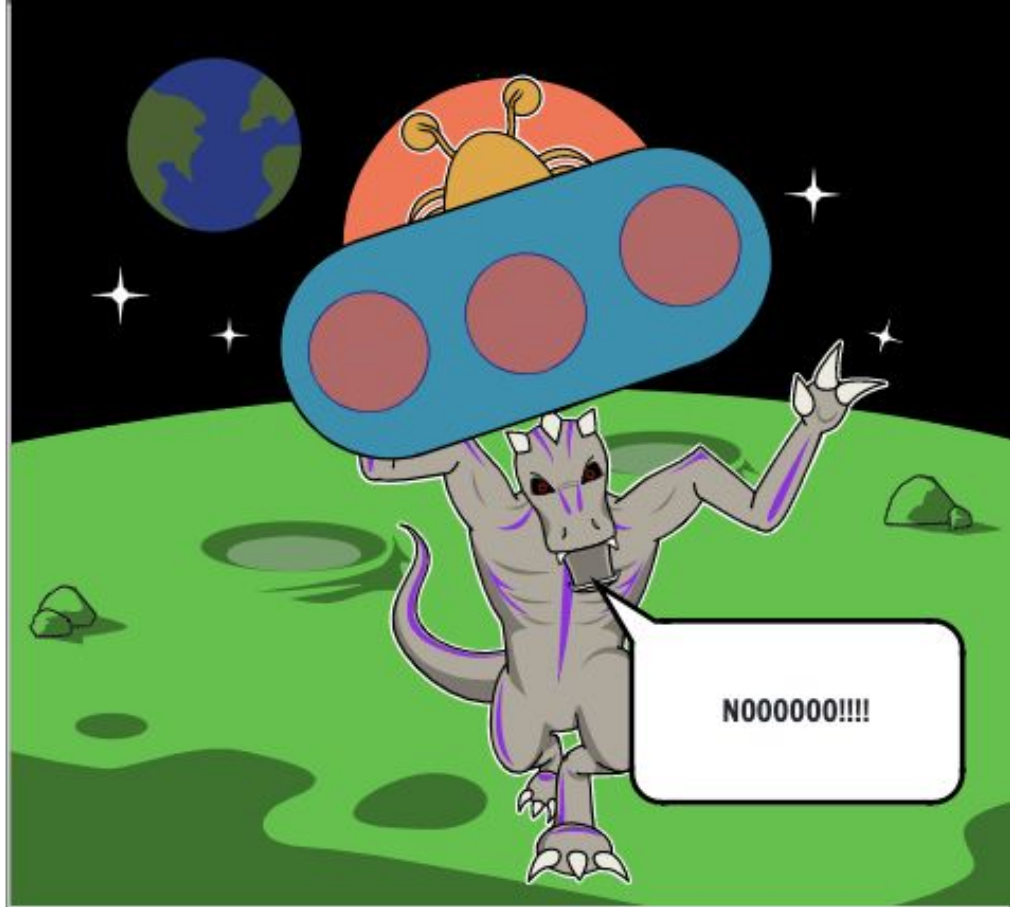

There and then, being the last of its kind, X-2000 has launched a sublime spaceship, allowing it to travel through interstellar space.

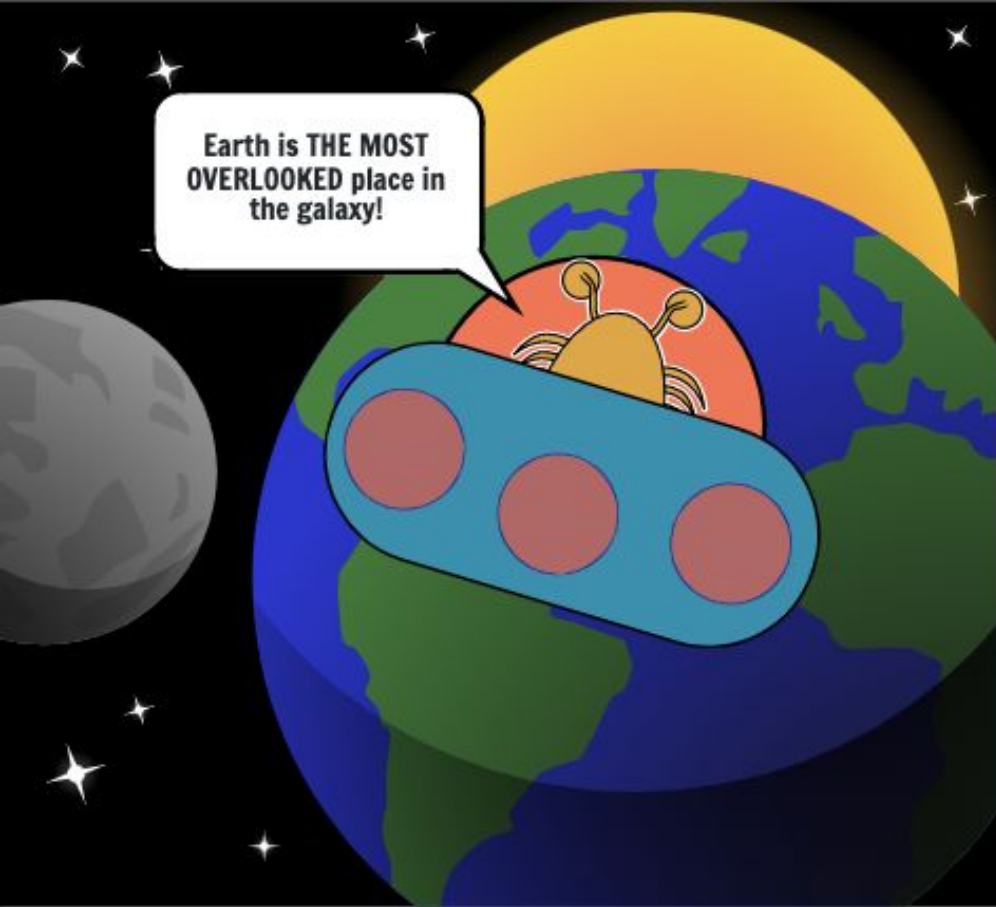

It intends to reach the Earth- the most overlooked place in the galaxy.

From out of nowhere, an alien, malformed and large as a lorry, pounces at the spaceship-struggling to stop it from going out to space.

It fails...

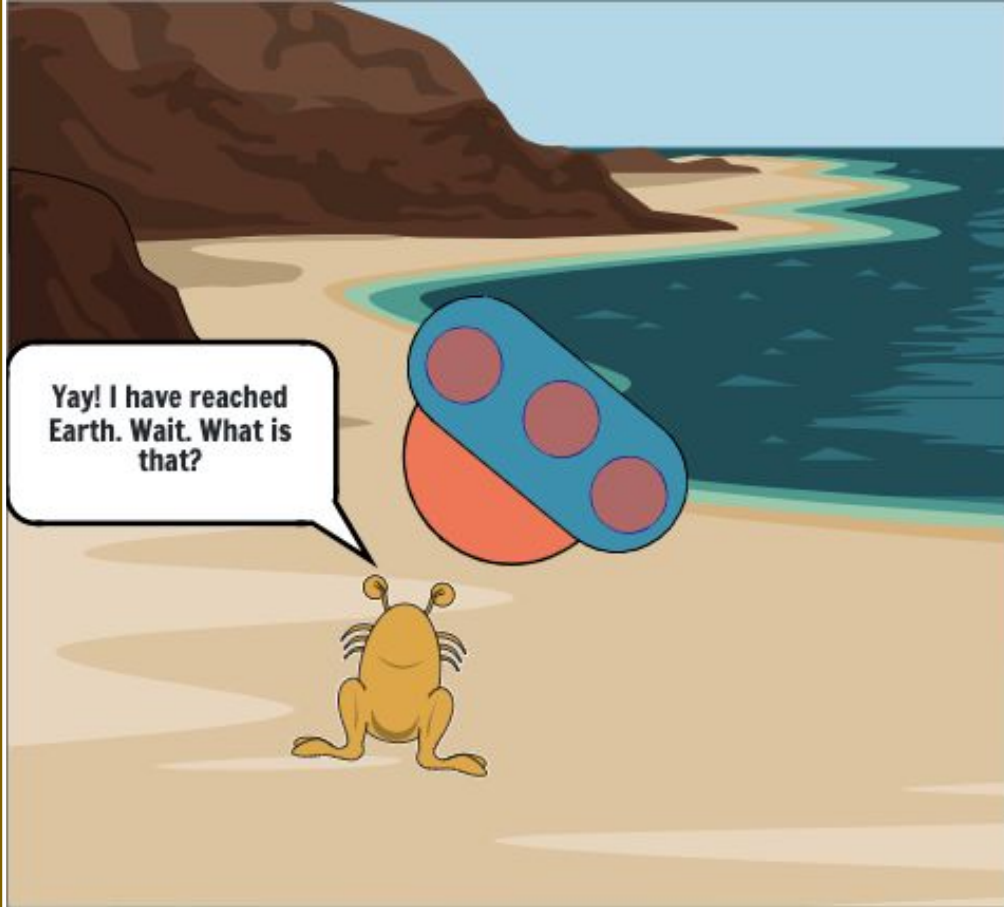

X-2000 flies away to Earth - a lightning bolt in speed!

Heading towards the Earth, the perfect place to seek refuge, X-2000 is full of ecstasy.

Through the corona and into the lunar wind, it arrived on Earth, exhilarated!

Yay! I have reached Earth. Wait. What is that?

Not knowing that its ship has entered the realm of reverse time travel, it coincidentally crashes on the island of Mauritius in 1662.

There, the hunters and poachers are desperately trying to wipe out all the dodos.

It spots something off in the distance..

A human being is hurling a knightly fatal spear to impale the last dodo in the world!

The heartless hunter triggers his musket, gunning the dodo down.
POW!

God bless the dodo...
It has survived with minimal injuries.

An unexpected companion has rescued it just in time.
It was X-2000.

The dodo meets X-2000-asking it to join his mission. The dodo reluctantly accompanies X-2000, leading it to the alien's secret refuge.

This is my secret refuge. There is an anti-biological barrier to stop any creature from entering. I made it to stop the creatures from V-CX3000 from following and killing me.

That's a nice idea! It seems like those creatures are similar to humans.

YEAH! We have a relatable past.

During their mutual journey, a series of chatter between the dodo and the alien connects them well.

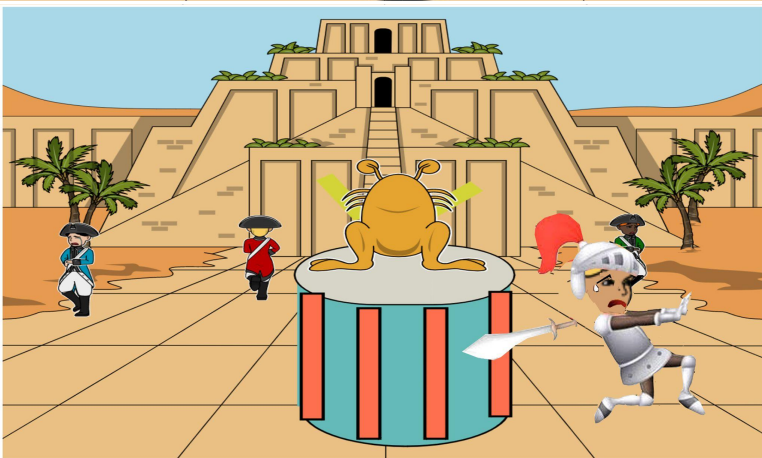

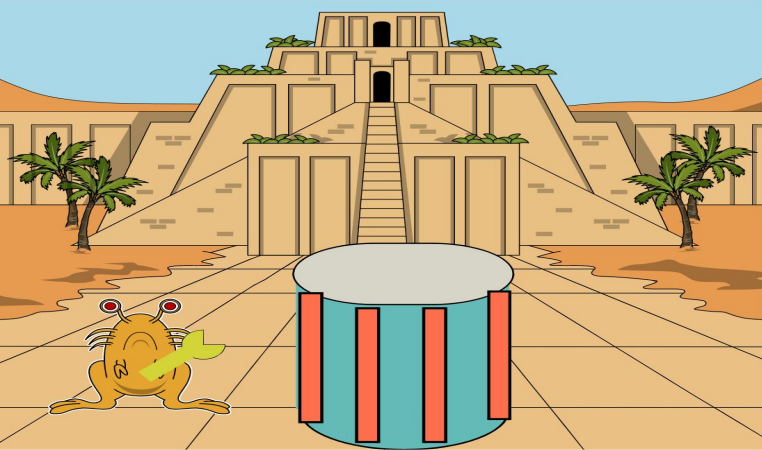

As days go by, they realise how similar their pasts were.

The hunter's endeavours to vanish the last dodo become possible. He finds it, then harshly slices it with a bladed bayonet.

Miracles still happen; the dodo doesn't die. Squawking in pain, the dodo suffers from severe wounds.

X2000 swears that the human will have to pay the price.

X-2000 creates a colossal booming drum featuring top-of-the-range technology from its extraterrestrial origin, releasing sound waves which hurt human eardrum only,

It echoes and frightens all the hunters off the island.

*Once and for all, the last alien and the last dodo live together
happily Until . . .*

a new enigmatic enemy appears -

the virus...
